Toledo Bend Lake - Big Lake!

Toledo Bend Lake is located in Louisiana and Texas on the Sabine River and forms a portion of the boundary between the two states. The reservoir is 65 miles in length and covers an area of 186,000 acres with 1,200 miles of shoreline. It is the largest man-made body of water in the South and the fifth largest in surface acres in the United States. It offers unlimited opportunities for fishing and recreational activities. Toledo Bend was named the number one bass lake in the nation by Bassmaster Magazine for two years in a row, 2015/16 and 2016/17.

FISHING – BIG FISH!

While bass fishing is the most popular on Toledo Bend, other species, such as crappie, bream, white bass, strippers and catfish are in abundance. The current bass lake record is 15.33 lbs. Toledo Bend Lake attracts numerous fishing tournaments because of the abundant fishing and the well-designed facilities. Cypress Bend Park and San Miguel Park host many fishing tournaments each year. For a list of lunkers and fishing tournaments, please visit us at ToledoBendLakeCountry.com.

The Toledo Bend Lake Association's Lunker Bass Program had 139 lunkers (over 10 lbs.) caught during a single year. If you agree to release your lunker, the TBLA will award you with a replica. For more information about the Lunker Bass Program, visit ToledoBendLakeAssociation.com

OUTDOOR RECREATION

We have fishing and so much more! We boast two state parks, offering a wide variety of outdoor activities from hiking, biking, ATV and OHV trails to birding and nature watching.

North Toledo Bend State Park includes more than 900 acres of pine woodland with abundant waterfront accommodations and activities.

The park has 63 campsites with water and electrical hookups, plus ten rental cabins with fireplaces. A large group camphouse is also available – with five dormitories, a large bathhouse and a main kitchen/dining area.

The Visitor Center complex includes an Olympic-sized swimming pool, bathhouse, laundry and meeting room.

South Toledo Bend State Park is located on several small bluffs that extend over and into Toledo Bend Reservoir next to Toledo Bend Dam on Highway 191. It offers scenic waterfront views from many vantage points. Visitors to the park can enjoy recreational activities such as hiking, cycling, birding, camping and Off-road Highway Vehicle trails. The site offers 19 vacation cabins, 55 RV campsites and 5 tent sites.

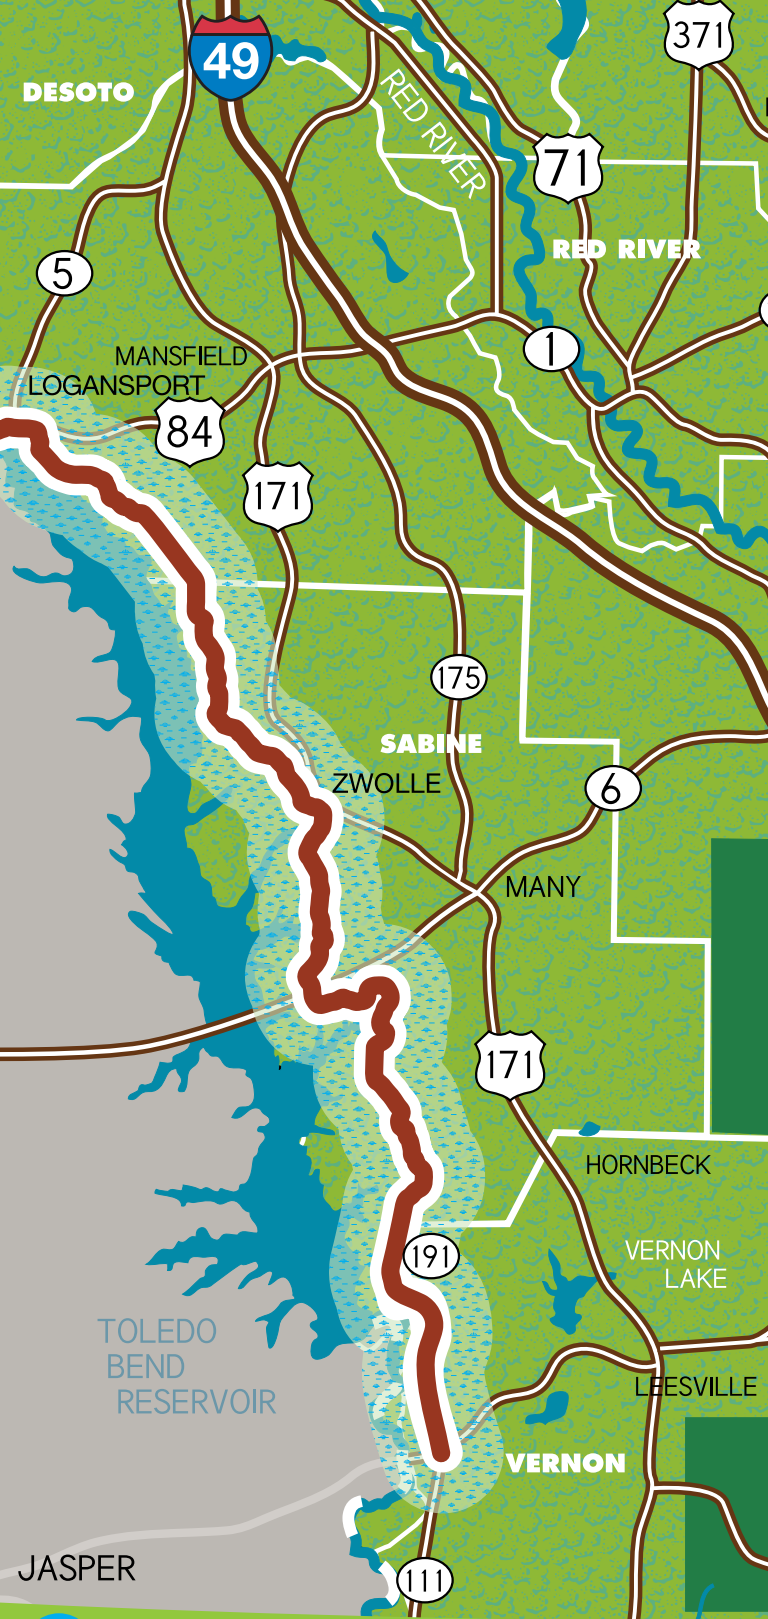

This area is a common nesting ground for the bald eagle. One of the special features of this park is the Visitor Center with interpretive areas and programs for children. The protected beach area and the covered fishing bridge are a real favorite.

BIRDING

An abundance of public and private parks and pull over areas along Toledo Bend provide easy access for birders to view and photograph many species native to the area. Over 130 have been sighted in Cypress Bend Park, Cypress Bend Resort, North Toledo Bend State Park, South Toledo Bend State Park and in the Sabine Wildlife Management Area. Toledo Bend Lake Country is an Important Bird Area (IBA) and offers a variety of habitats to a number of birds including large numbers of american white pelican, as well as bald eagle, belted kingfisher and black scoter.

The bald eagles, once the most famous birds on the nation's Endangered Species list, are making a comeback and have built extravagant nesting areas in many areas along the lake. Many other rare, threatened and endangered species are found in Toledo Bend Lake Country, including red-cockaded woodpecker, waterbird nesting colonies and a variety of coastal shorebirds and migrating birds.

Celebrate Toledo Bend's 50th Anniversary with us.

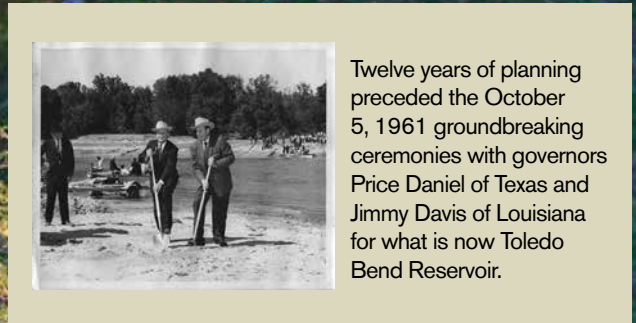

As a result of rapid industrial development and the changing demands of an evolving economy during the late 1940's, the people of the Sabine River area, both in Texas and Louisiana, realized a need to provide for the future of the area.

In 1949, the Texas State Legislature created the Sabine River Authority of Texas, followed immediately by the Louisiana State Legislature in 1950, who created the Sabine River Authority, State of Louisiana. Together, these two bodies were given the duties of conserving and developing the waters of the Sabine River Basin for beneficial purposes.

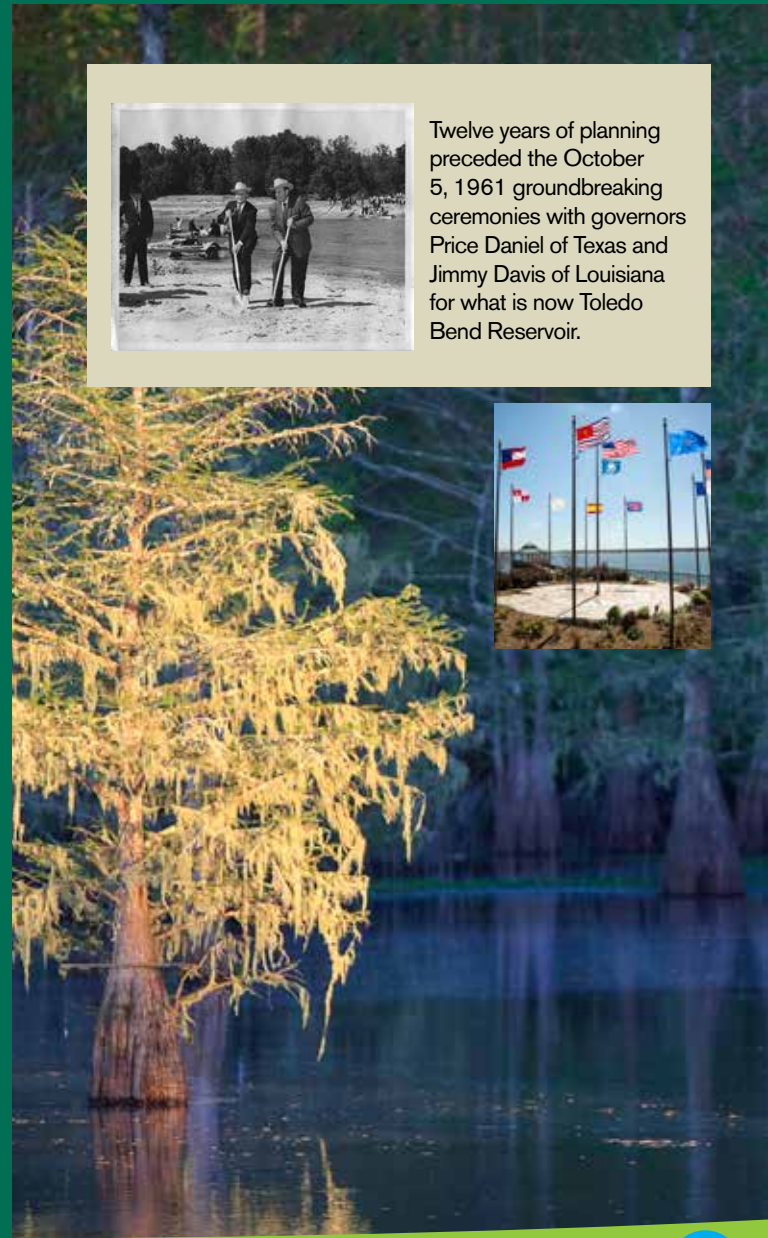

Studies were undertaken and the results clearly indicated the feasibility of building Toledo Bend Reservoir by damming the Sabine River.

Toledo Bend is the largest man-made body of water in the South, and the fifth largest in surface acres in the United States. From the dam site, the reservoir extends 65 miles upriver and inundates land in Texas and Louisiana. It was constructed for the purposes of water supply, hydroelectric power generation, and recreation. In all, the lake normally covers an area of 186,000 acres.

Land acquisition began in 1963, with construction of the dam, power plant and spillway the next year. Following completion of the structures, the power plant began operation in early 1969. The project was dedicated in October 1969. Toledo Bend Reservoir is the only public water conservation and hydroelectric project in the nation to be undertaken without federal financing.

Twelve years of planning preceded the October 5, 1961 groundbreaking ceremonies with governors Price Daniel of Texas and Jimmy Davis of Louisiana for what is now Toledo Bend Reservoir.

El Camino Real

Original
Route

Historically speaking

El Camino Real

Designated as a National Historic Trail in 2004, El Camino Real de los Tejas (Highway 6 in Louisiana and Highway 21 in Texas) has existed for more than 300 years. El Camino Real has its easternmost beginning in Natchitoches, Louisiana, and it runs from piney woods through rolling hills to the arid lands of Old Mexico. The Spaniards and the French who marked the trail were followed by such men as Moses Austin and his son Stephen Fuller Austin (the Father of Texas), Jim Bowie, Davy Crockett, Sam Houston and early missionaries of multiple faiths. An abundance of historic sites await the modern day traveler of El Camino Real, including Fort Jesup State Historic Site. ElCaminoRealTrail.com

The Lobanillo Swales are the largest concentration of physical remnants of the road that have been found anywhere in the United States. Here you can learn all about this historical site and walk the same path that lead to the founding of Texas!

No Man's Land The Neutral Strip region, (a.k.a. No Man's Land) draws its name from the area's brief stint as an official buffer zone between Spain and the United States following the Louisiana Purchase. When the United States purchased the territory from France, Spain and the U.S. were in conflict over the boundary south of Natchitoches. In lieu of an armed clash to decide the new territory's borders, both governments agreed to remove all troops from the disputed area until boundaries could be determined, and the official Neutral Strip was born.

The region's use as an official buffer between Louisiana and Spanish Texas lasted roughly from 1806 until the 1819 Adams-Onís Treaty that established the Sabine River as the territory's western boundary.

It is a major archaeological site and offers interpretive programs. 6354 Hwy. 485 Robeline, LA 71449, 318-356-5555

Village of Fisher The picturesque sawmill Village of Fisher still reflects the nostalgic past of a by-gone era and gives visitors the feeling of stepping back in time. Built in 1889 by Louisiana Longleaf Lumber Company, the buildings that survive today are some of the finest examples to be found of the lumber industries own handiwork. The Old Mill Store is the original store of this sawmill town. Now, stocked with a huge array of antiques, it is a fascinating place to visit. Zwolle Hot Tamale Trail

Along the banks of Toledo Bend Lake, about 70 miles south of Shreveport, sits the town of Zwolle, home of the most delectable hot tamale. Tamales are a dish made of masa filled with pork wrapped and steamed in a corn husk. The Zwolle Tamale Fiesta is an annual celebration of the tamale the 2nd weekend in October.
